Development finance innovations at the country-level UNDS

Welcome!

We know you are busy and are glad to see you here. Thank for joining us for this this survey. It will take about 7-10 minutes of your time. We greatly appreciate your support!

What we are looking for

Where are colleagues in the field thinking in creative ways around financing sustainable development and the SDGs? What initiatives at the country-level are already underway? This is what we would like to explore with this survey. More specifically, we are looking at two aspects of financing development in new ways:

A) Tapping into new public or private finance pools

In part A of the survey, we are looking for initiatives that aim to tap into new finance pools. These resources could be public, private or located at the intersection of the public and private sector.

B) Achieving more impact by using resources in new ways

In part B of the survey, we are looking for initiatives that use existing resources in new ways to finance development. These aim to
